- I _____ it again, just as I _____ it many times before, you're not going to an all-night party.
- There's something _____ for answering your emails immediately.

Correcting mistakes

- 2 There is one mistake in each of the sentences below. Find it and correct it.

- 1 Humans are unique among primates in that they are walking upright.
- 2 It's great to hear from you, Jill. What have you been doing since I've last seen you?
- 3 I hated school. Perhaps I'd have liked it if I was more popular.
- 4 Why haven't you told me that you don't like fruit cake?
- 5 I was going to go to the theatre last night, but then I heard that the performance will be cancelled.
- 6 The forecast said unsettled, so take your umbrella in case it's raining.
- 7 His mother was putting him to bed early because he had been naughty.
- 8 I won't make your party, I'm afraid – I'll visit my grandmother in Scotland.
- 9 If you're seeing Jane at the weekend, are you inviting her to my party, please?
- 10 He wasn't thinking of celebrating his retirement, but he's now deciding it's a good idea.

Active or passive? Which sounds better?

The passive is used when:

- the subject is unknown.
No one knows when music was invented.
My phone's been stolen!
- we want to focus on the object of the sentence rather than the subject.
Calls and songs are used by birds to communicate.
Hamlet was written by Shakespeare between 1599 and 1601.
- we want to sound more impersonal and distance ourselves from the facts.
500 workers will have to be made redundant.
(We'll have to make 500 workers redundant.)

- 3 Most of the sentences below (but not all) would sound better in the passive. Decide which ones and rewrite them.

- 1 Someone built this bridge in 1897.
_____
- 2 A secretary has invited my grandfather to a garden party at Buckingham Palace.
_____
- 3 The invention of fire gave humans the ability to cook.
_____
- 4 Nobody must take reference books from the library.
_____
- 5 Alexander Graham Bell was a scientist. He invented the telephone in 1876.
_____
- 6 They say a Bulgarian scientist has discovered a drug which prevents ageing.
_____
- 7 Someone wants you in reception immediately. They'll tell you what it's about.
_____
- 8 An avalanche buried eight people in Austria.
_____
- 9 People know him to be a very good judge of character.
_____
- 10 The police have finally recaptured the violent robber who has been on the run for a week.
_____

Reflexive pronouns

- 4 Complete the sentences with the correct verb from the box and a reflexive pronoun.

apply behave busy content fancy help kick ~~dress~~

- 1 After the accident he couldn't dress himself for a while.
- 2 Kids, you must _____ when we go into the museum.
- 3 If you'd like another sandwich, please just _____.
- 4 She _____ to the task of reaching the top of the career ladder at her firm.
- 5 We thought we had a chance of winning that rowing race, but unfortunately we had to _____ with second place.
- 6 They _____ in the kitchen with preparations for the party.
- 7 She _____ as a world famous film star and fashion icon, but she's not actually a very good actress.
- 8 I didn't pluck up the courage to ask her out on a date. Silly me! I could _____!

Reading

Robots versus humans

- 1 1.1 Read and listen to the article about the latest robot experiments. Choose the best summary of the text.
  - a Robots will one day be superior to humans.
  - b Humans have started to create robots that are more like humans.
  - c Robots are now developing human emotions.
  - d Robots are particularly good at competing with humans in the arts.
- 2 Read the text again. Answer the questions.
  - 1 According to the writer, why did humans invent robots?
  - 2 Who or what is Emily Howell?
  - 3 What does 'EMI' stand for? Why did it anger composers?
  - 4 How does the software program 'The Painting Fool' choose its mood?
  - 5 Who is Simon Colton? What does he want?
  - 6 Has Adam won the Nobel Prize? Who is Eve?
  - 7 Why does the writer say we are fascinated by robots?
- 3 Read these statements. There is one for each paragraph. Replace the words in italics with how they are expressed in the text.
  - 1 Humans readily acknowledge _____ that robots function _____ better in some areas than they do.
  - 2 Emily Howell launched herself onto _____ the music scene. Her only failing _____ was that she was a computer.
  - 3 Professor David Cope supplied unprocessed facts and figures to _____ the computer about composers in history.
  - 4 Emily Howell's music is modern _____ and causes arguments _____ because she is competing against humans.
  - 5 'The Painting Fool' software program refuses to _____ paint if it is feeling fed up _____.
  - 6 Computer creativity is not just limited _____ to the arts. Scientists have worked together _____ and created Adam, the world's first computer scientist.
  - 7 What will happen if the robot experiment gets out of control _____? Can scientists close down _____ these machines?

What makes a robot human?

1 What are the traits of a robot? Robots are tireless, reliable, unemotional, and unquestioning. That is, after all, how they are programmed. We invented robots and computers to be our faithful servants, to do the things that we couldn't or didn't want to do ourselves. In so many areas robots perform better than humans, and we accept this with good grace because they are only robots and we are the superior ones. The one thing they can't do is be human. They can't feel, emote, create, or love.

2 However, our notion of what it is to be a human versus a robot is currently being challenged by the latest experiments in computer programming. Take, for instance, the area of creativity. A little while ago, a new and exciting composer called Emily Howell broke onto the music scene. Her music was original, beautiful, and contemporary and two albums were released. Emily's only flaw? She was someone's computer.

3 The human responsible for Emily, American professor David Cope, has worked on robot creativity for many years. He had originally attempted to code a computer program which wrote music. The results were predictably terrible. So he gave up writing rules for the computer and instead just fed raw data into it for the computer to analyse itself. Cope eventually produced a computer that could analyse any composer in history and then write an entirely new work that sounded just like how that composer would have written it himself. He called it EMI – Experiments in Musical Intelligence.

4 Composers were outraged, and musicians refused to perform EMI's works. Undaunted, Cope tried a less controversial approach. He formed a new database of only the new work that EMI had created. This he fed into his new computer program, Emily Howell, and from that point she began working on her own musical style. What is interesting is that her music is contemporary. Like other modern composers, she has learned from the past to create music for our time. Emily is unfortunately even more controversial, as she is now competing with humans in their own creative field.

5 It is not only in the world of music that computers are making creative waves. Similarly, the art world is coming to terms with a program called 'The Painting Fool' – a laptop software program which has learned how different artistic styles and colours can represent moods and emotions. Again, the program absorbed many years of art history and, like Emily Howell, came up with its own contemporary style. The computer first reads the newspaper in order to set its 'mood' for the day. Then it chooses an adjective to reflect that mood, and does a portrait of a real person with that adjective in mind. After that, it looks at its own work to see if it has achieved the objectives it set out for itself, and if it thinks the work isn't good enough, it tries again. And sometimes, if it's in a very bad mood, it won't paint at all! Because the program operates in different 'moods' and has the ability to analyse its own abilities as a human might, co-creator Simon Colton wants it to be recognized as an artist in its own right.

6 Computer creativity is not just confined to the arts, however. British scientists have collaborated on a big project to come up with a laboratory machine that can think for itself.

Adam is the world's first robot scientist. Adam acts in the same way as a human scientist: he comes up with a hypothesis, he devises experiments to test this hypothesis, conducts his experiments, analyses the findings, and then retests accordingly – all without the need for human intervention. Although not yet a Nobel Prize winner, Adam has already produced some original research into genetics. The same scientists are now developing another robot called Eve, and she will be twice as clever!

Adam, the robot scientist

7 So are these robots becoming like us? Part of our fascination with robots is that it makes us actually question what it means to be human. And ultimately, we are their creators. If the whole experiment gets out of hand, we can just pull the plug on these machines, can't we? Unless – as in scary science fiction movies – our robots decide that they no longer need us ...

Phrasal verbs

An overview of phrasal verbs

A phrasal verb is a verb + particle (an adverb or a preposition).

They can be literal or idiomatic, separable or inseparable.

Type 1: Verb + adverb

- There is no object (intransitive).

He walked in and sat down.

What time did John finally turn up?

Type 2: Verb + adverb + object (transitive)

- The adverb can be separable, but not if the object is a pronoun.

Please, hand out the books / hand the books out / hand them out.

We put off the meeting / put the meeting off / put it off.

Type 3: Verb + preposition + object (transitive)

- The preposition is inseparable.

He ran after the dog / ran after it.

They took to their new teacher / took to her immediately.

Type 4: Verb + adverb + preposition + object (transitive)

- The adverb and preposition are inseparable.

Dear Mr Madsen,

Please find attached the manuscript of my first novel entitled Deep Space 17.

I <sup>1</sup> _____ that you find it as exciting to read as I found it to write. As you are the foremost fiction publishers in the country, I am anxious to hear your opinion as soon as possible, although I <sup>2</sup> _____ that you may take up to six weeks to respond. However, I am so confident of my novel's appeal that I think you will find it <sup>3</sup> _____ to turn down!

I <sup>4</sup> _____ your speedy reply.

Yours sincerely,
N.R. Fielding

An acceptance speech

“ Ladies and gentlemen, I am <sup>1</sup> absolutely / strongly / fully delighted to accept this prestigious award. To be honest, I <sup>2</sup> completely / distinctly / perfectly forgot to plan an acceptance speech, as I wasn't <sup>3</sup> deeply / sorely / entirely convinced that I had any chance of winning. It's been a long road, and looking back, I can see it was <sup>4</sup> wildly / fully / fatally optimistic of me to think that my first novel would be quick and easy to write. Five years later, I can <sup>5</sup> perfectly / eagerly / safely say that it took a lot longer than I expected. However, I was <sup>6</sup> perfectly / virtually / blindingly happy spending day after day alone in my study writing, and I <sup>7</sup> strongly / severely / completely recommend that everyone has a go at writing their own novel. I now <sup>8</sup> freely / fully / strongly intend to write a sequel – but hopefully a bit more quickly! I <sup>9</sup> highly / greatly / firmly believe that creative work is its own reward, but I must say that I <sup>10</sup> highly / greatly / entirely appreciate being given an award as well. Thank you. ”

2 IAN RANKIN 1960–

Scottish crime writer

'It wasn't the thing my parents wanted me to be good at, but if you're working class and your parents have never owned their own house and never owned a car and stuff; they think you go to university to get a trade, to get a profession. So, accountant, lawyer, dentist, doctor. There was one relative, an aunt of mine who had grown up with my mum in Bradford; she was married to an accountant, and he had a nice flash car; they owned their own home, seemed to have a very good standard of living, so I thought, "Well, I'll become an accountant." So by the age of sort of 15 or 16, that's what I thought I was going to do, and I was doing economics and accounts ... and then there was this sort of epiphany. I was 17, I'd just sat my highers and I'd scraped a C for economics – just passed economics – and I thought, "Why the hell am I going to university to do a subject I'm really not that interested in and obviously not that good at? The thing I really like is English; I like books." I knew very few professional writers who made a living out of their writing, so there at university I was thinking, "Oh, I'm going to have to become a teacher, or hopefully an English lecturer, and I will continue to write as a hobby, part-time; in the margins of my life I'll be a writer."

3 PENELOPE LIVELY 1933–

novelist, and writer of children's fiction

'When I was about 11 or 12 I think I must have said something about how I wanted to be a writer; I don't remember having any such aspiration until much, much later. But I must have said something, because Lucy [my governess] wrote to Somerset Maugham and said that she was governess to a little girl who wanted to be a writer and what would Mr Maugham suggest? Heaven knows how she managed to write to him – I suppose care of the publishers. He wrote a very nice letter back saying absolutely the right thing: "If your little girl is interested in writing then the best thing she can do is read a lot." Perfect answer; exactly what I'd say myself.'

4 MICHAEL MORPURGO 1943–

award-winning author of children's books

'One of the things that frightened me about writing when I was a small boy is that I had no ideas and no imagination. I was constantly being told this anyway, and I couldn't write very well. I could joke around like other boys, but on paper I had nothing really serious to add, no adventures I wanted to write down, because I didn't – I just didn't link the two up. I think I learnt at some point that the imagination is not something that you either have or don't have. For me – and we're all different – it's triggered by real people, historical events, memories, by reality of some sort. I don't think in my life I've ever written a story which does not have some little root, some little seed of truth or observation.'

5 WENDY COPE 1945–

contemporary English poet

'You've got to have something to say, but you don't always know what it is. It's often just some words in your head that you think could be a line of a poem, so you write them down and see where it goes. One of the major misconceptions about poetry is that the poet has some kind of agenda and intentions, not just that some words come into their head and then they start playing with them and seeing where they go. Because sometimes I will try to write a poem and it just comes out dead because there isn't really anything that's deeply felt or worth saying. One thing that makes poems work is strong emotion, and I remember hearing James Berry, I think it was, saying that one characteristic of a good poet is that they feel things intensely, and he said: "Of course poets are not the only people who feel things intensely, but it is one of the qualities," and I think that's true.'

6 P.D. JAMES 1920–2014

English writer of detective novels

'By the time I begin writing, the plot is there and there's a chart which shows in which order the things come so that the structure is right. But that will change, as new ideas occur during the writing, which makes the writing very exciting. New ideas: sometimes one greets them with huge enthusiasm and thinks, "Oh, that's really clever, yes, this is how it happened and this is logical and right and that will be how it will be." So I never get exactly the book that I thought I was going to write.'

7 MICHAEL HOLROYD 1935–

biographer

'The only happiness one gets from writing is doing a good day's work, of suddenly discovering something on the page which works. You pick up the page, you shake it, it's there, it doesn't come to bits, and you didn't know it at the beginning of the day and now you know it. Now that's a real happiness, and unless there is some element of that, well, why on earth is one writing? Because otherwise moving a pen across the page is not all that enjoyable.'

Wednesday, August 10th

Day 10 of my travels in Japan: KYOTO

Today was extremely hot and humid. This morning, I left the hotel at ten and ventured into <sup>1</sup> downtown, crowded, noisy Kyoto. I headed for Shisen-do, a temple that a friend of mine said I shouldn't miss. Although I was wearing <sup>2</sup> light, cotton clothing, I was already sweating after twenty minutes. So when I reached the temple and walked in, I was struck by the <sup>3</sup> dark, cool, peaceful interior.

Shisen-do is a <sup>4</sup> wooden, beautiful, old temple built with great simplicity and grace, surrounded by <sup>5</sup> tall, ancient, maple trees and overlooking a <sup>6</sup> deep, large pond with moss-covered rocks. There is always the sound of running water in Japanese temples, and to the left of the pond was a fountain with a <sup>7</sup> bamboo, black, long tube which tipped backwards when it was full of water, making a <sup>8</sup> soft knocking sound on the stone beneath.

While I was sitting cross-legged on the tatami mat, looking out at the garden, I got into conversation with a(n) <sup>9</sup> young interesting man wearing a <sup>10</sup> cotton, pale blue robe. He told me he came there to meditate every day. I could see why. When I left, I experienced an incredible sense of calm and well-being, and as I sat having a <sup>11</sup> cold, long drink in a <sup>12</sup> lovely little café not far away, I realized I hadn't felt like that in a very long time.

Honoria and the marriage proposal

The <sup>1</sup> big mahogany doors <sup>2</sup> opened and the count <sup>3</sup> walked into the room shouting loudly and <sup>4</sup> asking where Honoria was. He <sup>5</sup> saw her standing in front of the <sup>6</sup> decorative gold mirror and was <sup>7</sup> briefly taken aback. She looked <sup>8</sup> lovely in a <sup>9</sup> greeny-blue silk <sup>10</sup> dress with her chestnut curls <sup>11</sup> falling down her back. 'My Lord, what is the meaning of this ungentlemanly behaviour?' she asked, indignantly.

'Honoria, it is you who must answer to me!' he snapped. 'You have just <sup>12</sup> said no to Lord Ambrose's marriage proposal. I am extremely disappointed. How do you <sup>13</sup> explain your actions?'

The power of one

I feel as though it is our generation's duty to fight for the rights of vulnerable children.

At 15, Neha Gupta may have appeared <sup>1</sup> to be (be) a typical US high school student. She enjoyed <sup>2</sup> _____ (play) tennis in her free time, but somewhat untypically, she spent most of it <sup>3</sup> _____ (help) thousands of orphans and underprivileged children in India and the US <sup>4</sup> _____ (have) a better life.

At the age of just nine, Neha decided <sup>5</sup> _____ (start) a charity, Empower Orphans, as a result of her visits to India. When staying with her grandparents there, her family often used <sup>6</sup> _____ (visit) an orphanage to give the children presents. Neha remembers <sup>7</sup> _____ (have) a conversation with a girl who offered <sup>8</sup> _____ (show) her round. Neha heard her <sup>9</sup> _____ (describe) the hardship she risked <sup>10</sup> _____ (face) without any education. The girl kept <sup>11</sup> _____ (say) how much she would love to go to school, and it made Neha <sup>12</sup> _____ (realize) how much she took education for granted. She promised <sup>13</sup> _____ (help) the children and try <sup>14</sup> _____ (get) them an education. At first, people refused <sup>15</sup> _____ (take) her seriously, but she didn't let it <sup>16</sup> _____ (stop) her.

'People can't imagine one person <sup>17</sup> _____ (be able to) make an impact', says Neha, 'but I believe in the power of one.' Back home, she encouraged friends <sup>18</sup> _____ (donate) toys and books, and organized garage sales. She then started <sup>19</sup> _____ (sell) goods made by the children in the orphanage. Today, Empower Orphans continues <sup>20</sup> _____ (grow), with libraries, computer labs, and health clinics in India and the US.

For Neha, it all meant <sup>21</sup> _____ (miss) out on some social life, but she's never regretted <sup>22</sup> _____ (spend) so much time with the children. 'I love <sup>23</sup> _____ (see) them smile,' she says. A classmate wrote a profile of Neha for the school newspaper. 'Here's this girl who's close to what I'm like, and she's already managed <sup>24</sup> _____ (do) so much with her life and helped so many people. It's mind-boggling.'

If anyone could claim to have led by example in an age of austerity, it was José Mujica, Uruguay's president from 2010 to 2015, who forswore a state palace in favour of a farmhouse, donated the vast bulk of his salary to social projects, <sup>1</sup> _____, and drove an old Volkswagen Beetle.

But the former guerrilla fighter was clearly disgruntled by those who tagged him 'the world's poorest president' and – much as he would have liked others to adopt a more sober lifestyle – the 78-year-old president had been in politics long enough to recognize the folly of claiming to be a model for anyone. 'If I asked people to live as I live, they would kill me,' Mujica said during an interview in his small but cosy one-bedroom home <sup>2</sup> _____.

The president was a former member of the Tupamaros guerrilla group, which was notorious in the early 1970s for bank robberies, kidnappings, and distributing stolen food and money among the poor. He was shot by the police six times and spent 14 years in a military prison, <sup>3</sup> _____.

After becoming leader of Uruguay in 2010, however, he won plaudits worldwide for living within his means, decrying excessive consumption, and pushing ahead with policies on same-sex marriage, abortion, and cannabis legalization that reaffirmed Uruguay as the most socially liberal country in Latin America.

But the man best known as Pepe said that those who considered him poor failed to understand the meaning of wealth. 'I'm not the poorest president. The poorest is the one who needs a lot to live,' he said. 'My lifestyle is the consequence of my wounds. <sup>4</sup> _____ There have been years when I would have been happy just to have a mattress.'

He shared the home with his wife, Lucía Topolansky, a leading member of Congress who has also served as acting president. The only security was two guards parked on the approach road, and Mujica's three-legged dog, Manuela.

President Mujica cut an impressively unpolished figure. In conversation, he exuded a mix of warmth and cantankerousness, idealism about humanity's potential and a weariness about the modern world.

Uruguay's options to improve society were limited, he believed, by the power of global capital.

We're in an age in which we can't live without accepting the logic of the market,' he said. 'Contemporary politics is all about short-term pragmatism. We have abandoned religion and philosophy ... What we have left is the automatization of doing what the market tells us.'

At the United Nations Rio+20 conference on sustainable development, he railed against the 'blind obsession'; to achieve growth through greater consumption. But, with Uruguay's economy ticking along at a growth rate of more than 3%, Mujica – somewhat grudgingly, it seemed – accepted that he had to deliver material expansion. 'I'm president. I'm fighting for more work and more investment because people ask for more and more,' he said. 'I'm trying to expand consumption but to diminish unnecessary consumption ... <sup>6</sup> _____ – of energy, or resources, or time. We need to build things that last. That's an ideal, but it may not be realistic because we live in an age of accumulation.'

Asked for a solution to this contradiction, the president admitted that he didn't have the answers, but the former Marxist said the search for a solution must be political. 'We can almost recycle everything now. If we lived within our means – by being prudent – the seven billion people in the world could have everything they needed. <sup>7</sup> _____,' he said. 'But we think of people and countries, not as a species.' He continued, 'The world will always need revolution. That doesn't mean shooting and violence. A revolution is when you change your thinking.'

4 Read the conversation about 'cold callers' – people who telephone you at home without your permission in order to sell you something. Choose the correct set expression from exercise 3 to complete it.

Cold callers

Beth Aaagh! That was another cold caller!

Andy <sup>1</sup> I might have guessed. / I might well ask! You were being incredibly rude.

Beth Well, what do you expect?! <sup>2</sup> I can't be bothered / It can't be helped to be polite to them. <sup>3</sup> They might as well ring / They will keep ringing when I'm trying to work!

Andy <sup>4</sup> I must say, / I shouldn't wonder if that is one of the biggest problems of working from home. How on earth do they get our number?

Beth <sup>5</sup> You must be joking! / You might well ask! But then a lot of them are crooks. That was someone pretending to be calling from Microsoft saying there was a virus on my computer, and wanting me to give them access to it. I didn't, of course.

Andy <sup>6</sup> You can say that again! / I should think so too!

Beth Well, it's a scam I've heard about. They mess up your computer and charge a fortune to put it right. Mind you, there may well be a virus on my computer – <sup>7</sup> how should I know? / you'll see. I had to laugh when she said, 'Your computer's working very slowly, isn't it?' I did think, <sup>8</sup> You must be joking! / You can say that again!

Andy Maybe we should register with that organization that's supposed to stop cold calls?

Beth <sup>9</sup> We might as well / It's a must – it's free and it can't do any harm. But I think it only reduces the number of calls you get.

Andy Well, <sup>10</sup> we'll see / you'll see.

4.1 Now listen and check your answers.

Modals – other meanings

5 Choose the correct ways to complete the sentences.

- 1 We needn't have paid to get into the museum as students – we saved £15 / we wasted £15.
- 2 I could make myself understood in Spanish when the waiter took our order / as a child.
- 3 I must stop having business lunches – I'm putting on too much weight / the company is stopping my expense allowance.

- 4 When I was small, my parents would live in a houseboat / often take me camping.
- 5 I've just seen the latest weather forecast. It could not be very hot / be really hot tomorrow.
- 6 You don't have to apologize – it proves that you were in the wrong / but it would be nice if you did.

Misleading adverts

6 Read about false claims made by advertisers and choose the correct options in the text. Sometimes both are possible.

Too good to be true

In adverts, you <sup>1</sup>would / will often see people staring open-mouthed at how wondrous a product is, clearly thinking that it <sup>2</sup>can't / isn't able to be true. It's always worth bearing in mind that it <sup>3</sup>can / might well not be.

Generally, advertisers <sup>4</sup>will / may get away with a bit of exaggeration, but companies <sup>5</sup>mustn't / don't have to push the boundaries too far, as it <sup>6</sup>'s able to / can cost millions in damages if someone sues for making 'false claims'.

Adverts for Dannon's Activia® yoghurt said that it <sup>7</sup>could / was able to provide various nutritional benefits, but in a legal challenge, the courts <sup>8</sup>couldn't / wouldn't accept that these were 'clinically' and 'scientifically' proven. Dannon <sup>9</sup>had to / ought to pay up to $45 million to consumers who felt deceived, and limit its health claims to strictly factual ones in future.

It <sup>10</sup>must have / can have come as more of a surprise when Ferrero, the makers of the chocolate and hazelnut spread Nutella®, began promoting its nutritional benefits (though long-term addicts <sup>11</sup>can't have / will have been pleased to learn that they <sup>12</sup>didn't need to worry / needn't have worried about it being unhealthy for all those years). However, it <sup>13</sup>may have / will have been a step too far for Ferrero to maintain it was a healthy 'good for you treat.' After having to pay millions in compensation to the customers who sued over this false claim, the company accepted that it <sup>14</sup>could / should change the adverts and product labels.

Of course, images <sup>15</sup>mustn't / don't have to mislead either. An Olay advert for Definity eye cream showed former model Twiggy looking impressively wrinkle-free. You <sup>16</sup>didn't have to be / mustn't have been an expert to see that the image <sup>17</sup>must have been / had to be photoshopped. In real life, Twiggy <sup>18</sup>could have / may have been looking good for someone pushing 60, but in the advert she looked rather a lot younger than she <sup>19</sup>should have / could have done. After receiving complaints, the advertising authorities confirmed it was a case of image manipulation and banned the advert, saying that it <sup>20</sup>could / was able to give consumers a 'misleading impression of the effect the product could achieve'.

DYNAMO

A modern-day magician

When you hear the word 'magician', what springs to mind? Is it the variety show magician with magic wand, in a traditional outfit of shiny waistcoat, bow tie, and top hat? Or perhaps it's the glitz and glamour of a Vegas-style illusionist, complete with wide-lapelled sequined jacket, perm, and full make-up, that occurs to you first?

Magic seemed to go through a phase of being, quite literally, old hat. It had a rather old-fashioned feel to it, no matter how clever the acts were. But now there's a new type of magician who is bringing magic back into the mainstream in Britain and giving it street cred into the bargain. Thanks to the street tricks of a young man called Dynamo, magic and illusion are once again supercool.

Dynamo has been celebrated for the modernity of his act. He doesn't use a stage, a string of assistants, or any of the shiny accessories of traditional magic shows. Instead he walks the streets in a bomber jacket, a baseball cap, and trainers, accompanied by a hand-held camera operator, sharing his magic with the astounded general public, and then strolling quietly away, before they can get their heads around what has just happened. He doesn't have a speciality. He is as brilliant with cards and small hand tricks as he is with far bigger stunts of mystery and illusion. He can pull out the playing card you were thinking about, put mobile phones in bottles, and change names on credit cards just as easily as he strolls down buildings or levitates – or once memorably walked on water across the River Thames! When it comes to magic, it appears that he can do it all.

Dynamo, aka Steven Frayne, didn't have the easiest start in life. He was born in industrial Bradford, northern England, in a rundown part of the city to a teenage mum. His father was in and out of prison and he was partly brought up by his great-grandfather, who was an enthusiastic amateur magician. Born with a digestive disorder (Crohn's disease) which left him severely debilitated, the young Steven failed to put on any weight, and as a small, pale, and sickly child, he was an easy target for school bullies. His great-grandfather showed him how to use magic tricks to his advantage, and as he got a name for himself, the bullying ceased. However, he was always regarded as odd and an outsider, so school life wasn't a success and he left for London while still in his teens.

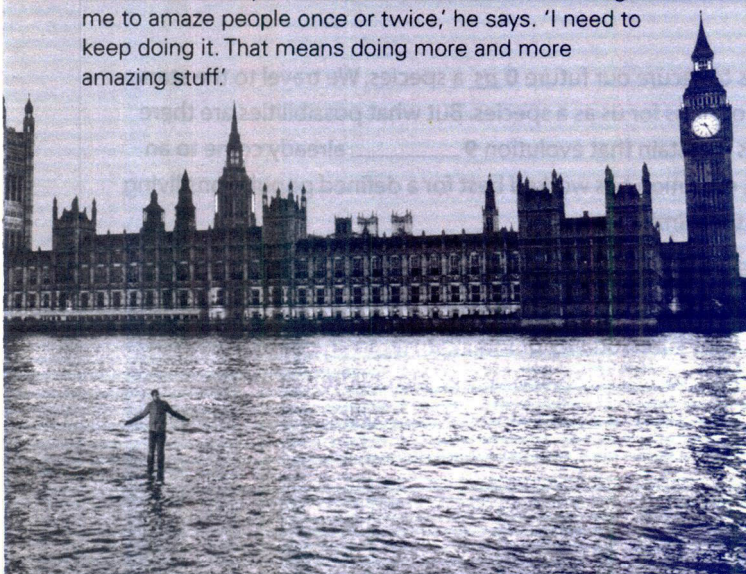

After having been granted a small business loan, Dynamo bought himself a DVD recorder and laptop and started filming some of the trick sequences that would make up his first DVD, Underground Magic. His current worldwide following gradually came about after some of his video clips appeared on YouTube™. A couple of thousand passersby in London watched him walk across the Thames in front of the Houses of Parliament on a Saturday afternoon, before he was picked up by a police speedboat. A couple of years later, 1.6 billion viewers globally had watched the illusion on YouTube™, which led to the offer of his own TV show, Magician Impossible, on a small TV channel. In the show, he performs tricks that leave his audience stunned, including a variety of celebrities. Performing tricks on famous people makes it clear that his targets are not in on the act, and celebrities appear keen to work with this impressive but quiet and unassuming character. He walked through a shop window in front of footballer Rio Ferdinand; he removed the sunglasses from the album cover photo of rapper Tinie Tempah through the CD case; and even Prince Charles became a fan when Dynamo turned a pile of papers on his desk in the palace into real money.

The famous Magic Circle was slower to show their appreciation of this newcomer on their scene. This organization for the best of all magicians is shrouded in secrecy, even as to its location. As Dynamo said, 'They regarded me as a bit of an upstart. I wear a hoodie and trainers rather than a top hat and tails. I incorporate hip hop into my act ... I've always tried to go against the clichés of whatever magic is or was.' However, they eventually opened their doors to him – wherever those doors are. But although he may have finally been accepted into mainstream magic, he hasn't lost any of his creative drive. 'It's not enough for me to amaze people once or twice,' he says. 'I need to keep doing it. That means doing more and more amazing stuff.'

Reading and Use of English Part 2

For questions 9–16, read the text below and think of the word which best fits each gap. Use only one word in each gap. There is an example at the beginning (0). (8 marks)

The future of human evolution

One could argue that the purpose of everything we humans do is to secure our future 0 as a species. We travel to the stars, explore the oceans, and travel every inch of land to find the best options for us as a species. But what possibilities are there for the future evolution of mankind? The fact is that some experts maintain that evolution 9 _____ already come to an end. They point out that 10 _____ the history of life on Earth, evolution has worked best for a defined populations living in one place. Humans, however, no longer operate 11 _____ such limitations.

Another viewpoint holds that our evolution is ongoing. According 12 _____ this theory, environmental factors are 13 _____ longer the driving force for evolutionary change; our choice of partners is what 14 _____ define our future evolution. Partners are more 15 _____ to be chosen for their personality or intelligence, so characteristics that facilitate these choices will be highly valued. This can be exemplified 16 _____ looking at the children of athletes. Professional sports people tend to be more attractive and therefore attract good-looking mates, making it more probable that those traits will be passed down to their offspring.

An Irish Ghost Story

There is something very strange about being shut up inside a house with a ghost. In this situation, we humans are at a real 0 disadvantage. If we know that a road or a field is 17 _____, we can usually make a detour to avoid the locality. But the 18 _____ of a ghost in a house is very different. It arrives and vanishes as it wishes, 19 _____ of our presence. It seems to be as much part of the house as the stairs or the front door, and 20 _____, nothing short of leaving the house or pulling it down will free us absolutely from its 21 _____ presence. It is terrifying to see a door open when we know that no human hand is touching it, or to hear footsteps which we suspect belong to a 22 _____ entity. Or perhaps a form appears in a room, standing, sitting or walking – in three dimensions, apparently as an ordinary 23 _____, made of flesh and blood until it demonstrates its 24 _____ nature by vanishing before our eyes.

3 5.2 Listen and read about the British diplomat. Who has the 'last laugh'?

A BRITISH DIPLOMAT TELLS A JOKE IN JAPAN

A British diplomat was working in Japan and sometimes he had to give lectures as part of his job. He had given this lecture many times, and he always began it with a joke, but the audience never laughed. He didn't speak any Japanese (you don't have to speak a foreign language to be a British diplomat), so he thought that the lack of laughter was because his translator didn't translate the joke very well. He decided that he ought to get a new translator. He found an excellent one who was bilingual in Japanese and English, and he told him that he'd pay him a large fee as long as he translated the opening joke really well.

The diplomat gave his lecture and to his delight everyone in the audience laughed loudly at the joke. He congratulated his new translator profusely on doing such a good job and paid him well. Little did he know that this is what the translator actually said in Japanese:

OK, the diplomat is beginning his lecture. As usual with lectures by British speakers, he's beginning with a joke. I don't know why. The jokes are always really stupid, and usually say something ridiculous about Japanese people. Fortunately, you don't have to listen to this joke because I'm not going to translate it. But you mustn't look bored, so start smiling now ... and to be polite, you must laugh when he's finished, so get ready to laugh when I tell you. 1, 2, 3 ... laugh NOW!

4 Complete the sentences with a verb in the correct tense and a reduced infinitive.

Reading

Two ways of travelling

- 1 Read about the writer Elizabeth Gilbert. Is her book, Committed, fictitious or autobiographical?

Elizabeth M. Gilbert is an American journalist, novelist, and travel writer.

In her fifth book, Committed, Liz describes her decision to marry a Brazilian man named Felipe whom she met in Indonesia. They go travelling together in south-east Asia while waiting for permission for Felipe to apply for immigration to the US. The travelling reveals differences between them.

- 2 5.3 Read and listen to the extract about Liz and Felipe's travels. Are these statements true (✓) or false (X)? Correct the false ones.
- 1 The first paragraph is mainly about Felipe's approach to travelling.
  - 2 Felipe and Liz didn't start travelling until late in life.
  - 3 They're incompatible because only one of them enjoys travelling.
  - 4 Felipe's 'secret weapon' is his ability to fit in wherever he goes.
  - 5 He easily picks up foreign languages.
  - 6 Neither of them minds the various discomforts of travel.
  - 7 Felipe wanted to stay in northern Laos because it was cheap.
  - 8 Liz never wants to settle down and be a home bird.

Incompatible Travelers

by Elizabeth M. Gilbert

'The best traveler and the worst.'

- The last few months had brought to my attention an important incompatibility between us – one that I'd never noticed before. For a pair of lifelong *travelers, Felipe and I actually travel very differently. The reality about Felipe is that he's both the best
- 5 traveler I've ever met and by far the worst. He hates strange bathrooms and dirty restaurants and uncomfortable trains and foreign beds. Given a choice, he will always select a lifestyle of routine, familiarity, and reassuringly boring everyday practices. All of which might make you assume that the man is not fit to
- 10 be a traveler at all. But you would be wrong to assume that, for here is Felipe's traveling gift, his superpower, the secret weapon that renders him peerless. He can create a familiar habitat of reassuringly boring everyday practices for himself anyplace, if you just let him stay in one spot. He can assimilate absolutely
- 15 anywhere on the planet in the space of about three days, and then he's capable of staying put in that place for the next decade or so without complaint. This is why Felipe has been able to live all over the world. Not merely travel, but live. Over the years he has folded himself into societies from South America to Europe,
- 20 from the Middle East to the South Pacific. He arrives somewhere utterly new, decides he likes the place, moves right in, learns the language, and instantly becomes a local.

'I'm not like that, though.'

- Whereas Felipe can find a corner anywhere in the world and settle down for good, I can't. I'm much more restless than he is. My
- 25 restlessness makes me a far better day-to-day traveler than he will ever be. I am infinitely curious and almost infinitely patient with mishaps and minor disasters. So I can go anywhere on the planet – that's not a problem. The problem is I just can't live anywhere on the planet. I'd realized this only a few weeks earlier, back in
- 30 northern Laos, when Felipe had woken up one lovely morning in Luang Prabang and said, 'Darling, let's stay here.'

'Sure', I'd said. 'We can stay here for a few more days if you want.'
 'No, I mean let's move here. Let's forget about me immigrating to America. It's too much trouble. This is a wonderful town. I like the 35 feeling of it. It reminds me of Brazil thirty years ago. It wouldn't take much money or effort for us to run a little hotel or shop here, rent an apartment, settle in ...' In reaction, I had only blanched. He was serious. He would just do that. He would just up and move to northern Laos indefinitely and build a new life there. But I can't.

'Travel that wasn't even travel.'

- 40 What Felipe was proposing was travel at a level I could not reach – travel that wasn't even travel anymore, but rather a willingness to be ingested indefinitely by an unfamiliar place. I wasn't up for it. My traveling, as I understood then for the first time, was far more dilettantish than I had ever realized. As much as I love 'snacking'
 45 on the world, when it comes time to settle down – to really settle down – I wanted to live at home, in my own country, in my own language, near my own family, and in the company of people who think and believe the same things that I think and believe. This basically limits me to a small region of Planet Earth consisting
 50 of southern New York State, the more rural sections of central New Jersey, north-western Connecticut, and bits of Eastern Pennsylvania. Quite a scanty habitat for a bird
 55 who claims to be migratory. Felipe, on the other hand – my flying fish – has no such domestic limitations. A small bucket of water 60 anywhere in the world will do him just fine.

*Note the American spelling is traveler, whilst the British spelling is traveller.

3 Answer the questions.

4 Find words in the text that are synonymous with the words in italics.

- 1 Felipe is able to make a home and establish a comfortingly familiar routine for himself wherever he goes.
- 2 He has a particular way of travelling which makes him better than anybody else.
- 3 Liz believes she is an extremely tolerant person who is extremely interested in seeing new things when she travels.
- 4 She's good at putting up with the little difficulties that arise along the way.
- 5 Felipe is able to adapt straightaway to somewhere totally new if he likes it.
- 6 Liz turned white at the thought of staying forever in an unfamiliar place.
- 7 She finally realized that her attitude to travel was more superficial than Felipe's.

10 He didn't realize the error of his ways until she threatened to leave him.

The use of -ever for emphasis

What-, who-, which-, when-, where- and how- + ever can be used in a variety of ways:

a to show that it doesn't matter what/who/which, etc.:
We'll go whatever the weather.

b to show indifference or uncertainty:
I'll call you later, whenever I get the time.

c to express surprise in questions:
Whatever does it mean?*
Whoever is that with your sister?*

d to express surprise more informally and emphatically with on earth:
How on earth did you do that?*

4 Mark these sentences a, b, c, or d according to the rules above.

- 1 However did you get here so quickly? _____
- 2 Well, I love him whatever you might think! _____
- 3 Choose whichever dress you want, I don't care. _____
- 4 Who on earth told you that? _____
- 5 'You're not to talk to your mother like that!' 'Whatever!' _____

5 Complete these sentences.

Land Girls

① In 1939, when the Second World War was looming, the British government recognized that the country should grow its own food to avoid being reliant on imports. However, there was a shortage of agricultural workers in the countryside. For decades, young men had been leaving for more profitable work in factories. Then, with many men leaving to join the armed forces, there was a desperate need for labour.

② Therefore on 1 June 1939, the Women's Land Army was set up by the government. The WLA was expected to replace men in the fields, forests, and livestock sheds for the duration of the war. Unfortunately, the farming community treated the whole idea with suspicion and scorn. Working in the countryside was considered no place for a decent young woman. Furthermore, city girls would simply not be up to the job.

③ Nonetheless, glamorous posters were issued advertising a wonderfully healthy way of life in the country, and the recruitment process got underway. Thousands of girls were interviewed to see if they were suitable, but in reality it wasn't hard to get into the WLA. The minimum age was 17, but many young women lied about their age, desperate to escape city poverty. All 'Land Girls' were given a  cursory  medical, before being issued with work clothes for the fields. They were also given a heavy, uncomfortable brown 'uniform' that they were to wear while 'off-duty'. They were to earn just 26 shillings a week, far less than their male  counterparts .

'Back to the land, we must all lend a hand,
To the farms and the fields we must go,
There's a job to be done,
Though we can't fire a gun,
We can still do our bit with the hoe.'

④ Starting work in the country was a shock for the new recruits from the city, many of whom had never seen a field or a cow. Not only were there new skills to acquire with only  rudimentary  training, but the work was also very physical. Their tasks were endless: they learned to operate heavy farm machinery, they planted and harvested wheat and vegetables, cleared fields, picked fruit, milked and herded cows,  felled  trees, and caught rats. The day often started at 4 a.m. and the hours were long. Land Girls were expected to work a 48-hour week in winter and 50 hours in the summer, but most worked much longer than this, especially at harvest time.

⑤ The girls' circumstances differed, depending on where they were sent and what the conditions were like. Some stayed on individual farms and could be quite lonely. Others stayed in large hostels in vacant country houses or schools, and travelled to different farms on bikes. But they were initially regarded with  indifference  or even hostility by the farming community. Some girls even complained that the Italian prisoners of war who were working the land were treated better than them and given more food! However, many came to love their new way of life in the country with its relative freedom, and made lifelong friends.

⑥ By the end of the war, the 100,000 WLA volunteers had carried out their duties with such dedication, skill, and enthusiasm, that the farmers were the first to complain when the organization was eventually  disbanded  in 1950. The role of women in the countryside and everywhere else was changed forever.

5 Match the  highlighted  words in the text with these definitions.

S If only you <sup>7</sup> _____! And I wish you <sup>8</sup> _____ (never buy) him that fancy camera now! I mean, his photos are always so miserable! And black and white, of course. It's as if he <sup>9</sup> _____ (not know) it <sup>10</sup> _____ (be) possible for photos to be in colour!

T It's called social realism. Would you rather he just <sup>11</sup> _____ (take) photos of people grinning happily at the camera?

S Er, yes, I <sup>12</sup> _____ (prefer) it if he <sup>13</sup> _____ actually – I mean, the odd smile <sup>14</sup> _____ (not do) any harm. And I <sup>15</sup> _____ (not mind) looking at endless photos of people in grim urban situations if it actually <sup>16</sup> _____ (do) anyone any good. I can't see that it <sup>17</sup> _____ (do) – it's just voyeurism.

Is your glass half full or half empty?

'Depression? 'Bring it on!' Maybe that's not a slogan you can imagine <sup>2</sup> _____ on, but there is something to be said for allowing at least a measure of negativity into your life. Studies have shown that people with a slight depressive tendency do in fact have a more realistic view of the world and their ability to influence it than those who <sup>3</sup> _____ on and on about the need to think positively. So if you tell a pessimist your life plans and they reply with, '4 _____ on!', you shouldn't immediately <sup>5</sup> _____ them off as completely wrongheaded.

- 10 I love this _____: 'I went shopping for camouflage trousers yesterday, but I couldn't find any.'

It's no laughing matter!

A joke:

'Two hunters are out in the woods when one of them collapses. He doesn't seem to be breathing and his eyes are glazed. The other man whips out his phone and calls the emergency services. "I think my friend's dead!" he gasps. "What can I do?" The operator says, "Calm down. I can help. First, let's make sure he's dead." "OK," says the man, putting his phone down. There is a silence, then a shot is heard. Back on the phone, the man says, "OK, now what?"'

Do you find this joke funny? Mildly amusing? 1

A few years ago, psychologist Richard Wiseman set up a project called LaughLab to try and discover the world's funniest joke. The website received 40,000 jokes rated by 1.5 million readers from around the globe. The joke that came out on top can't claim to be the funniest in the world, as the project only included jokes in English, but 2

Much research has been done into why humans laugh and what they laugh at – not only by psychologists, but also by neuroscientists and philosophers, for the study of laughter crosses many disciplines. So, why do we laugh? 3

The general consensus is that humans laugh as a social bonding mechanism. Studies have shown that humans are over 30 times more likely to laugh in company than alone. Even nitrous oxide or 'laughing gas' works more effectively on a group of people than on a single person. 4

Some researchers believe that laughter in humans was born out of the relief our ancestors felt after danger had passed. If smiling in humans is considered an extension of the 'fear' face in primates, then laughter is a signal that the fear has gone. When we laugh, our primitive 'fight or flight' reaction to danger is temporarily switched off, further indicating that we now feel relaxed. 5

The physiological study of laughter has its own name – 'gelotology'. Scientists have found that most emotional responses, like fear and anger, register in the large front section of the brain – the frontal lobe. Laughter, however, registers in various other parts as well, in a type of circuit. It's not yet clear why, but it means that if a person suffers any sort of brain damage, it's likely that 6

Laughter occurs in broadly one of three ways. Firstly, people laugh at the unexpected or the absurd; a joke often leads the listener to anticipate one outcome, but then offers another. Secondly, people laugh from a position of superiority, i.e. at someone else's mistake or stupidity. Thirdly, people laugh out of relief, as we have seen. This is a device that filmmakers use when they build up a situation of suspense or tension, and then put in a visual gag or a funny aside, 7

Although laughter is universal, people don't always laugh at the same things, and what people find funny often changes as they get older. Children find a lot to laugh about, as they are encountering so many things for the first time, which offers constant surprises. They are also particularly amused by the taboo, leading to what we call 'toilet humour'. Teenagers often like jokes that are rebellious and which adults find offensive, whereas adults often laugh at jokes about annoying things in their own everyday lives. Furthermore, because a lot of our humour comes from a shared cultural background, countless jokes don't cross language and cultural barriers, with the result that 8

Regardless of what different people find funny, people ought to laugh as much as they can. Laughter lowers blood pressure and cuts adrenalin production. While we're laughing, we increase the killer cells which destroy tumours and viruses, and become more immune to disease. Laughing 100 times is the same as doing 15 minutes' aerobic exercise, according to scientists. So, next time someone tells you they nearly died laughing, 9

He, she or 'ze'?!

British journalist Alexandra Frean, <sup>1</sup> _____ in America as a US business correspondent, had a linguistic experience <sup>2</sup> _____ enormously. <sup>3</sup> _____ her son for his first term at university on the American west coast she overheard him <sup>4</sup> _____ what gender pronoun he would like <sup>5</sup> _____ by during his university career. Did he want 'he', 'she', or a gender neutral alternative such as 'ze'? Her son, <sup>6</sup> _____, immediately replied 'he', <sup>7</sup> _____ himself a name badge <sup>8</sup> _____ 'he, his, him'.

Apparently, 'preferred gender pronouns', or PGPs, are spreading in US universities, <sup>9</sup> _____ include 'sie', 'e', 'ou', 've' and also the singular 'they'. It's surprising to learn <sup>10</sup> _____ this trend is catching on. It stems from a desire to eliminate gender stereotypes <sup>11</sup> _____ people. We're all now familiar with fireman, air hostess, and chairman <sup>12</sup> _____ by firefighter, flight attendant, and chairperson or chair.

However, <sup>13</sup> _____ experts in this linguistic field say that it's impossible to predict <sup>14</sup> _____ will go into common usage and which will prove to be just <sup>15</sup> _____.

  - 1 In the 1880s, the negative public reaction to female football teams delayed female emancipation.
  - 2 The matches were very well-attended.
  - 3 The players' outfits were made of silk.
  - 4 Despite being shocked, some spectators went on to encourage their own female relatives to start playing.
  - 5 Sports writers were scathing in their descriptions of the games.
  - 6 Nellie Hudson created two football teams, who only played against each other.
  - 7 Female footballers were banned in Scotland because their team lost twice to England.
  - 8 Helen Matthews moved to England to help Nellie Hudson set up the teams.
- 4 Find words in the text that can replace the words in italics.
  - 1 The teams' battles on the pitch during matches caused riots.
  - 2 Thousands of people gathered to see the vulgar sight of women playing football.
  - 3 It was reported that the women looked pretty because of the genteel manner in which they presented themselves.
  - 4 The British Ladies' Football Club caused an uproar in the press.
  - 5 Nellie Hudson had a firm determination to prove that women were as worthwhile as men.
  - 6 Stuart Gibbs and Colin Yates put together the photos for the exhibition.
- 5 Underline all examples of relative clauses and present and past participles in the text.

Knickerbocker GLORY!!

They kicked up quite a fuss in their bloomers and knickerbockers!

In buttoned-up blouses and billowing bloomers, they may not look as though they are dressed for the football pitch. But these are the members of Britain's first official female football teams, whose clashes on the field in the 1880s sparked riots off it, and contributed to greater empowerment for women.

The pictures, uncovered as part of an exhibition charting the history of women's football, reveal the characters who tackled a man's world for the first time.

However, while thousands flocked to see their matches, by 1895, when these photographs were taken, they were still less fascinated by the players' silky skills than by what they might be wearing for the unladylike spectacle.

One newspaper report at the time said: 'The young women presented a pretty appearance on the field, and this was in great measure due to the nice assortment of colours, as well as the dainty way in which the women set them off.' Casting aside corsets in favour of voluminous knickerbockers and prim bonnets amounted to quite an eyeful back in Victorian times and spectators frequently tried to get onto the pitch to get closer to the players.

Another newspaper of the day noted: 'There will always be curiosity to see women do unwomanly things, and it is not surprising that the match was attended by a crowd numbering several thousands, very few of whom would like to have their own sisters or daughters exhibiting themselves on the football field.' At the centre of the furore was the British Ladies' Football Club, which played dozens of games that year.

Founded by the enigmatic Nellie Hudson, known as Nettie J. Honeyball, the club fielded teams called North and South, which played against each other. In a newspaper interview she declared she had founded the club 'with the fixed resolve of proving to the world that women are not the ornamental and useless creatures men have pictured'.

Nellie Hudson
aka Nettie J. Honeyball

Helen Matthews
aka Mrs Graham

Sports writers of the day tended to disagree, though. According to a match report from The Sketch, 'it would be idle to attempt any description of the play.' It went on: 'The first few minutes were sufficient to show that football by women is totally out of the question. For the most part, the ladies wandered aimlessly over the field at an ungraceful jog-trot. A smaller ball than usual was utilized, but the strongest among them could propel it no further than a few yards.'

In the North team was Helen Matthews, a goalkeeper who played under the name of Mrs Graham. She had founded the first female Scottish national side, Mrs Graham's XI, in 1881. In May of that year riots erupted after the team defeated an English side twice. As a result, women were banned from playing football in Scotland, so Matthews headed south and later joined forces with Nellie Hudson. But many believe her team deserves credit for helping women get the vote in Scottish local government elections, since campaigners received the royal assent just a day after the unrest.

Stuart Gibbs, 47, who helped compile the exhibition, said: 'The players were all part of the rights for women movement so maybe the game was seen as a sign of the times and had some influence.' Historian and exhibition organizer Colin Yates, 54, added: 'The games often caused anger from men who disliked women doing what, at the time, was a man's job.'

Exam practice Units 5–8

Reading and Use of English Part 1

For questions 1–8, read the text below and decide which answer (A, B, C or D) best fits each gap. There is an example at the beginning (0). (8 marks)

Slow progress on gender pay gap

Women who work part-time after having children are likely to suffer the extremes of the gender pay gap, according 0 C fresh research showing how working mothers are 1 ____ out on pay progression.

By the time a first child has 2 ____ the age of 20, mothers earn almost a third less per hour, on average, than similarly 3 ____ fathers, according to research from the Institute for Fiscal Studies undertaken for the Joseph Rowntree Foundation.

The 4 ____ difference in pay according to gender comes as a consequence of the poorer levels of pay progression open to part-time workers. With women 5 ____ up the vast majority of the part-time workforce, as they look to find more 6 ____ working arrangements after having children. As a result, they miss out on the earnings growth 7 ____ with staying in a permanent job.

There are fears that progress in closing the gender pay gap has stalled, with the latest 8 ____ showing that the average female employee currently earns around 9.1% less per hour than the average male employee.

Reading and Use of English Part 2

For questions 9–16, read the text below and think of the word which best fits each gap. Use only one word in each gap. There is an example at the beginning (0). (8 marks)

Parenting culture clash

I have been conducting 0 my own totally unscientific survey of the difference 9 _____ children brought up in Ghana and those brought up in the US. If you asked me 10 _____ children are the better behaved, American or Ghanaian, I would have 11 _____ hesitation in opting for the Ghanaian ones. I suppose there would be no surprise in 12 _____ an answer. I am an old Ghanaian woman, and so for me, a well-behaved child is 13 _____ who shows a level of manners some might consider old-fashioned, with a liberal use of not only 'please' and 'thank-you', but also 'sir' and 'madam' to address an older person

In 14 _____ words, I consider it a sign of bad upbringing to address an older person without using a title, as in calling me 'Elizabeth' without 'Auntie', or 'Madam', or 'Miss', or whatever title comes 15 _____ mind. Most children brought up in the US would call me Elizabeth whereas a child brought up in Ghana would find a title to add to Elizabeth. In my part of the world, children speak and behave, or 16 _____ expected to behave, differently from grown-ups.

Reading and Use of English Part 3

For questions 17–24, read the text below. Use the word given in capitals at the end of some of the lines to form a word that fits in the gap in the same line. There is an example at the beginning (0). (8 marks)

- A You must be dreading spending so much time on your own!

B As a matter of fact, I don't think I'll enjoy it at all. / I'm looking forward to it!

Zach Sobiech

3 Read the fact file about Zach Sobiech and answer the questions.

- 1 What nationality was Zach?
- 2 Did he perform solo?
- 3 How old was Zach when he died?
- 4 What do you think he died of?

Zachary Sobiech, singer/songwriter: 1995–2013

From: Stillwater, Minnesota

Band: A Firm Handshake

Biggest hit: Clouds (YouTube™ hits: 11m)

Cover version featuring: Jason Mraz, Ashley Tisdale, Sara Bareilles

Profits to: Children's Cancer Research Fund

4 Choose the correct discourse markers in the text.

ZACH'S INSPIRING SWANSONG

After a run, teenager Zach Sobiech's hip remained sore, so he went for a medical scan. <sup>1</sup>Probably, / Naturally, no one thought it would be anything serious. <sup>2</sup>Alarmingly, / Predictably, the diagnosis was osteosarcoma, a rare form of bone cancer, which led to ten operations and 20 rounds of chemotherapy. <sup>3</sup>Inevitably, / Tragically, the cancer still spread, and Zach was given a year to live. He declined further treatment, knowing that he would <sup>4</sup>otherwise / anyway spend the rest of his life in hospital. He wanted to enjoy the time he had left with friends. <sup>5</sup>Still, / Above all, he wanted to be home with his family.

He also used the time to become the singer-songwriter he'd always wanted to be. <sup>6</sup>Apparently, / Obviously, it was a result of his mum suggesting he write letters to people to say goodbye – <sup>7</sup>at least / otherwise they would then have something to hold on to when he was gone. Zach said he thought he was better at writing songs than letters, and <sup>8</sup>by the way, / besides, songs are 'more powerful than writing a letter because a song can get stuck in your head.' His friend and co-writer, Samantha Brown, said it wasn't easy for Zach to talk openly about his feelings, <sup>9</sup>as you'd expect / given that he was a teenage boy, but that music was a way for him to 'get it out there'.

Zach remained incredibly positive about life, writing as many songs as he could, and many went viral. <sup>10</sup>Unusually, / Frankly, so did the moving and uplifting video about him, My Last Days, it being rare for such a long clip (22 minutes) to get as many as 13 million views. He gave public concerts, but <sup>11</sup>inevitably, / surprisingly, his health gradually deteriorated to the point where he was unable to.

His single Clouds became the first by an independent artist to reach number 1 on iTunes, <sup>12</sup>aptly enough / presumably on the day of his funeral ('We'll go up in the clouds because the view is a little nicer').

So many people have been inspired by his message that 'you don't have to find out you're dying to start living', and his approach to life. <sup>13</sup>Admittedly, / Actually, it's really simple. It's just, try and make people happy,' he said. 'You live right in front of you. You make small plans and focus on those. It's the little things, <sup>14</sup>apparently / honestly.'

A review

5 Complete each paragraph of the review of a classical concert with the discourse markers on the right.

Concert reviews

★ ★ ★ ★ ★
University Orchestra, with St Martin's Choir,
St Martin's, July 18th
Symphony no.40 Mozart
Zadok the Priest Handel

I have to say, I was very disappointed with this concert. <sup>1</sup> Obviously, one shouldn't demand the highest standards from university players – <sup>2</sup> _____, they are amateurs – but <sup>3</sup> _____, I expected a lot more from a group of music students. <sup>4</sup> _____ that's not unreasonable?

quite honestly surely after all obviously

<sup>5</sup> _____, much of the Mozart symphony was played at half the usual speed, <sup>6</sup> _____ to give the struggling string players a chance to get the notes right, though <sup>7</sup> _____ this strategy was not successful. <sup>8</sup> _____, the less said about their performance of this piece, the better.

unfortunately bizarrely
frankly
presumably

The choral work was Handel's Zadok the Priest. <sup>9</sup> _____, this is familiar to many these days as the anthem for the football Champions League (I wouldn't know, <sup>10</sup> _____ I've never watched a football match in my life). <sup>11</sup> _____, the basses in the choir did sound a little like chanting football fans. <sup>12</sup> _____, the standard of singing overall wasn't bad, but again the orchestra let things down.

given that to be fair apparently funnily enough

<sup>13</sup> _____, I can safely say I won't be going to any more of the University Players' concerts this summer, and <sup>14</sup> _____, I'm not going to recommend anyone else does either. <sup>15</sup> _____, the church setting was nice.

still

Cockney rhyming slang

Cockney rhyming slang is believed to have originally been a code used by Londoners to make it hard for outsiders to understand them. Some of the expressions have become familiar to all English speakers. Sometimes when the rhyming slang is two words, only the first word is actually used when speaking. The rhyme is always with the second word, however.

Mick Jagger

In the early days of rock music, people would have laughed at the idea of a rock singer in his seventies, but that hasn't stopped Mick Jagger pursuing his career of rock legend for over half a century. He has been described as 'one of the most popular and influential frontmen in the history of rock and roll'.

He was born Michael Philip Jagger in 1943 to a middle-class family in Kent, England, his father a teacher and his mother a hairdresser. Although bright and studious – at one time the young Jagger also aimed to follow the teaching profession – he had an overriding passion. 'I always sang as a child. I was one of those kids who just liked to sing.' He sang in the church choir, and copied all the singers he heard on the radio and TV.

- 15 In primary school, Jagger had already come across the boy who would later be a fellow member of one of the greatest rock groups in history – he and Keith Richards were classmates until they went to different secondary schools. At his new school, Mick was lead singer in the blues band
- 20 he formed with friends. The band worried whether he'd be able to continue singing after an accident playing basketball, when Mick bit off and swallowed the tip of his tongue. It turned out the injury had indeed changed his voice, but for the better, they thought – less polished and middle-class.
- 25 'Mick now sounded grittier, tougher, more authentically street,' said one band member. 'Biting off the tip of his tongue might have been the best thing that ever happened to Mick Jagger.'

Grand Master of ROCK

The Rolling Stones

After a chance meeting with Keith Richards again at 17, they developed a friendship based on their shared love of American blues music. Jagger entered the London School of Economics, with thoughts of becoming a journalist or politician, but his energies soon became focused on the new band he joined, along with Keith, which in 1962 became known as the 'Rollin' Stones' – the 'g' was added later.

Their unique sound quickly attracted attention, and their gigs soon became a popular part of the 'swinging 60s' London scene. Jagger's parents were not enthusiastic. His strict father had never approved of the kind of music his son played, calling it 'jungle music' ('That's a very good description', Mick once replied). Mick decided to leave college nevertheless and devote himself to being a full-time rock and roller.

After initially performing cover versions of their favourite blues numbers, Jagger and Richards went on to become one of the most creative and prolific songwriting teams ever. Jagger's high-energy, wild performances and distinctive growling vocal delivery became a trademark of the group, along with Richards' guitar playing. They were seen as anti-establishment, whereas the members of the other major British group at the time, the Beatles, were seen as cute and charming. 'I wasn't trying to be rebellious in those days,' Jagger says, 'I was just being me ... ordinary, the guy from suburbia who sings in this band.'

His subsequent life has been anything but ordinary, however. He married twice – in 1971 and 1978 – and is a devoted father to the seven children he has had by four women. He set up the band's own record label, has acted in films, won awards, produced films, met presidents, and at 60 collected a knighthood from Prince Charles. He has also amassed a considerable fortune, selling over 200 million albums.

Nonetheless, his constant first love remains performing. Despite being a great-grandfather, he still sings with the same raw energy and physicality he had decades earlier, and loves touring. 'Each show is a new event ... It's a very exciting couple of hours and it's a very intense relationship with the audience.'

It is this undiminished passion for what he does that has made him a legend in his own lifetime.

Monique Van Der Vorst

3 Read the story of the Dutch cyclist, Monique Van Der Vorst. Use the first verb in brackets (in the passive where appropriate), followed by the correct form of the second verb.

A WONDER ON TWO WHEELS

When Monique Van Der Vorst suffered ankle strain as a 13-year-old, it 'was assumed she had been overdoing (assume / overdo) her enthusiasm for sports – hockey, tennis, running, and cycling. Sadly, complications from an ankle operation resulted in paralysis in one leg. She 2 _____ (think / suffer) from muscular dystrophy, and later lost movement in her right leg, too.

It 3 _____ (seem / be) impossible for Monique not to have a sporting challenge, and so she entered her first handcycle race in 2000. She 4 _____ (not expect / do) well as a newcomer, but amazingly, came first and went on to win many world titles.

In early 2008 she was involved in a serious car accident and had to be transported to hospital by helicopter, where it 5 _____ (conclude / suffer) from paraplegia.

She 6 _____ (suppose / compete) in the Paralympic Games in Beijing later that year, and incredibly, still made it there to win two silver medals.

While training in 2010 for the next Paralympics, Monique was hit by another cyclist and thrown off her handcycle, in what at first 7 _____ (appear / be) yet another tragic accident. Her legs went into spasm, and she was hospitalized with severe back pain. However, as she recovered, she began to feel sensation in her feet, and after gradually regaining full use of her legs, she 8 _____ (judge / be) ineligible for the London 2012 Paralympics. She 9 _____ (say / have) mixed feelings about losing her status as a top Paralympian, but soon took to the challenge of racing for an able-bodied cycling team.

Unfortunately, while her story 10 _____ (consider / be) miraculous by some, she 11 _____ (also allege / exaggerate) her previous disability. Experts have, however, confirmed that while it 12 _____ (appear / be) extremely rare, it 13 _____ (know / be) possible for paralysis victims to regain use of their legs. Though very real, Monique's problems 14 _____ (now believe / be) not in her spinal cord, but in her brain connections, as a result of the severe traumas she suffered.

THE VETERAN BODYBUILDER

Charles Eugster

I was a very sickly child. From the age of six I had constant headaches and chronic tonsillitis. I became pale, sluggish and my growth was slow. I remember noticing one day that my best friend, who was a year younger than me, was slightly taller and that I was very upset about it.

At 13, I had my tonsils removed and, as my health improved, everything changed. I shot up and suddenly I was full of energy. I thought back to myself as a frail, sickly boy, and vowed never to be like that again. I took up boxing, rowing, and rugby. Staying fit and strong became my priority.

After school I trained to be a dentist, but sport remained an important hobby. I only once let myself go. As I crept into my 40s, I adopted my wife's sedentary lifestyle. We spent a lot of time doing nothing. Inevitably, my blood pressure plummeted and one day I felt a sharp pain in my legs – only to discover the dark, earthworm-like patterns of varicose veins across my calves. It was my first brush with old age, and I didn't like it. Immediately I resumed rowing to stay fit.

Life went on. At 60, I discovered veteran's rowing and started competing internationally, eventually winning 36 gold medals. I'm not a particularly talented sportsman, but I've always been a great trier. At 75, many of my friends began to pass away. People were getting older around me, but I was only just ready to retire.

Then, at 85, I had a crisis. I looked at myself in the mirror one day, and saw an old man. I was overweight, my posture was terrible and there was skin hanging off me where muscle used to be. I looked like a wreck.

I started to consider the fact that I was probably going to die soon.

*abs = abdominal muscles

I knew I was supposed to slow down, but I'm vain. I missed my old body and wanted to be able to strut across the beach, turning heads. So in my late 80s, I joined a bodybuilding club.

There's no research into bodybuilding for the over-80s, so it's been an experiment. With weightlifting and protein shakes, my body began to change. It became broader, more v-shaped, and my shoulders and biceps became more defined. People began to comment on how much younger I looked, and my new muscular frame drew a lot of admiring glances from women.

Everything I learned was tailored to help my body cope with old age. I took up judo to teach me how to fall properly. My circulation and posture improved, and I was told that there was a chance more muscle mass could protect my brain from Alzheimer's. I stopped thinking about dying. As I approached 90, my focus was on getting my body back.

In 2008, I signed up for my first championship. I was nervous, but although I was the oldest contestant by about 20 years, everyone was very welcoming. I got higher scores than all the women taking part, and a lot of the men. Then, at an event in Germany, I triumphed, scoring higher than any contestant in any age category for my 57 dips, 62 chin-ups, 50 push-ups, and 48 abdominal crunches, each in 45 seconds. As I'm over 70, they did make allowances – I could do the push-ups on my knees, for example – but I proved I wasn't past it.

I'm not chasing youthfulness. I'm chasing health. To me, a 65-year-old is young. Yes, one day something will happen and that will be it. But until that day comes, I'm going to carry on working on my abs.*

Note

Charles Eugster died at the age of 97 in 2017, only a month after competing for the final time in the World Masters Championships.

Pronunciation

Intonation in question tags

The intonation on question tags goes down ↘ if the speaker is just checking information and up ↗ if the speaker is not sure.

4 Read these questions. Do you think the intonation on the tag will naturally rise ↗ or fall ↘?
Write R for rise and F for fall.

- 1 Lovely day, isn't it? _____
- 2 I'm so sorry. I'm late, aren't I? _____
- 3 You haven't seen my car keys anywhere, have you? _____
- 4 You're angry with me, aren't you? I can tell. _____
- 5 You couldn't give me a lift to the airport, could you? _____
- 6 Drive carefully dear, won't you? _____
- 7 George Clooney didn't win the Oscar, did he? _____
- 8 I think it's time to call it a day, isn't it? _____
- 9 Helen's the twin wearing the pink dress, isn't she? _____
- 10 You haven't got another parking ticket, have you? _____

10.2 Now listen and check your ideas. Practise saying the sentences.

5 Read the conversations. Write in the correct auxiliary or question tag. Will the intonation rise or fall?
Write R or F.

- 1 A We had a holiday in Scotland. It rained a lot.
B But you had a good time, <sup>1</sup> didn't you? R
A Oh yes, the countryside's stunning, <sup>2</sup> _____?

Shades of meaning

- 2 Underline the future form which is most appropriate.

- 1 Scientist and futurologist Ray Kurzweil predicts that a computer will exhibit / will have exhibited intelligent behaviour equal to that of a human by 2029.
- 2 In 1990, he predicted that a computer was going to defeat / would defeat a world chess champion by 1998 (an IBM computer defeated Garry Kasparov in 1997).
- 3 He believes that in 15 years' time computers can / will be able to make jokes, tell stories, and even flirt.
- 4 In order to do this, computers will have had to / will be having to read and absorb everything on the web.
- 5 When they have read / will have read everything on the web, they are able to / will be able to engage in intelligent dialogue.
- 6 A I hear the professor is giving / gives a lecture on Friday evening.
Will you go / Will you be going?
B Yes, I'm going / I'll go. It starts / will start at seven o'clock. I'll see / I'm going to see you there.
A Great! I'll give / I'm going to give you a lift if you like.

Other future expressions

The expressions be to, be due to, be about to can also express the future. Look at these sentences.

- 1 Which is a formal news report? Which means 'very close in time'? Which means 'expected'?
  - a The taxi is due (to arrive) in 20 minutes.
  - b The President is to make a state visit to London next March.
  - c I'm about to lose patience with you.
- 2 What other future forms could replace the expressions in a-c? Note the different shades of meaning.

- 3 Rewrite these sentences in two different ways. In a, use be to, be due to, or be about to and the verbs in brackets. In b, use another future form of the verbs.

- 1 Sara's flight (land) at 5.35.
  - a Sara's flight is due to land at 5.35.
  - b Sara's flight lands at 5.35.
- 2 EU ministers (meet) in Brussels tomorrow.
  - a _____
  - b _____
- 3 Come quick! The film (start).
  - a _____
  - b _____
- 4 Drivers (charge) more to park in future.
  - a _____
  - b _____
- 5 Roadworks (commence) on July 24.
  - a _____

- 6 The situation isn't good, and (get) worse.
  - a _____
  - b _____ very soon.
- 7 The royal couple (arrive) in Sydney on Friday.
  - a _____
  - b _____

Future in the past

- 4 Use the verb in brackets to complete the sentences in an appropriate form to express the future in the past.

- 1 His mum didn't worry when Jack went on holiday with all his mates. She knew he would behave (behave) sensibly.
- 2 The traffic warden _____ (give) me a ticket, but I persuaded him not to.

Future technology

- 1 Look at the titles of four short newspaper articles about potential technological advances.

Which do you think is about ... ?

- a new fail-safe way of connecting by phone
- monitoring our health
- learning how to programme for ourselves
- using our bodies as passwords

- 2  11.1 Read and listen to the articles and complete each one with a line from below.

- 1 And if they go down, your immediate means of communication go with it.
- 2 Within a decade we could all become our own doctors.
- 3 It seems we are delighted to be able to control our own technology, given the chance.
- 4 Will we ever be able to simplify our complicated technological world?

THERE'S AN AURA THAT'S ONLY YOU

How many passwords do you currently have for cards, gadgets, and online accounts? How many times have you forgotten a password and had to come up with a new one? Electronic security is now a major headache as we attempt to keep our devices and personal details safe from increasingly sophisticated hackers. <sup>a</sup> _____.

Cambridge computer expert Frank Stajano believes so. He and his team are researching an 'electronic aura' – an electronic field around our bodies that would activate our, and only our, gadgets. To create it we would insert microchips in our clothes, glasses, jewellery, and even under our skin. Outside our personal 'aura', our computer, tablet, smartphone, bank cards, car keys, etc. would simply cease to function. To someone else they would just be useless junk.

Stajano is also developing a tiny gadget which you hold, called a 'pico' after the Italian philosopher Giovanni Pico, revered for his extraordinary memory. A pico would be capable of remembering thousands of passwords and login names. With it, you could instantly interact with any number of devices and websites by holding it near. Again, outside your aura field, your pico wouldn't operate. 'The problem with computer passwords is only going to get worse,' said Stajano. 'With our pico project we are going for the long-term solution.'

'Meshing' better together

Whatever did we do without our mobiles? Countless lives have been saved since the advent of mobile phones, due to the speed with which the emergency services can now be contacted. But, unfortunately, this is not always the case. As various incidents worldwide – terrorist attacks, hurricanes, tsunamis – have demonstrated, telecom services can be the first to collapse or be overloaded in a crisis. <sup>b</sup> _____.

Professor Jonathan Zittrain of Harvard University thinks we have the capability to build a new type of system called a 'mesh network' to solve this problem. Currently, if you want to get through to somebody, you connect to a data network via a nearby phone mast through your carrier, which then connects you to that person. But what if your phone could connect directly with another mobile phone without an intermediary? Like passing a bucket of water along a chain of people to put out a fire, we could pass information along our phones in the same way.

This 'mesh network' would allow phones to connect with each other if regular systems failed. Apps could be built into phones and networks, which would allow people to connect in a crisis, help each other, and potentially save more lives.

3 Answer the questions.

- a 1 Why would an 'electronic aura' work as a password?
2 How did the 'pico' get its name? When would it stop working?
- b 3 How is the 'mesh network' like a bucket of water?
4 When would a 'mesh network' start to operate?
- c 5 How might future devices differ from current ones?
6 How could implanting sensors into our bodies reduce healthcare costs?
- d 7 Why is Raspberry Pi so popular?
8 How might learning how to program computers make us happier?

4 Find words in the texts to replace the words in italics.

- a 1 I wish scientists could invent a way to feed the world's hungry.
2 That car boot sale was hopeless. It was full of rubbish.
- b 3 Did you manage to make that call to the manufacturers and register your complaint?
4 That's the third time they've used the excuse that their computers have crashed.
- c 5 My kids can't remember a time when all these gadgets weren't just everyday things.
6 The number of people suffering from diabetes has increased dramatically recently.
- d 7 My son has to stay abreast of all the latest technological developments in his job.

GETTING UNDER YOUR SKIN

We are already used to gadgets that track our health. Already commonplace are wearable devices to monitor our movement, heart rate, and sleep patterns. So the potential next step in healthcare is to go one better than that. In the near future, people could be implanted with tiny electronic sensors beneath their skin and in their brains to collect detailed personal information about the state of their health.

Researchers in the USA have already developed a hydrogel that can be applied under the skin like a tattoo. This gel monitors the nitric oxide in your body, low levels of which are an early indicator of heart or lung problems. Other sensors are already able to monitor transplants or activate prosthetic limbs. Although we are still some way off being able to monitor general health, researchers believe that, with spiralling healthcare costs, this may be the only way forward.

Constant data about our bodies could detect the onset of diseases so they may be caught and dealt with early, thereby saving costs. And it could revolutionize our attitude to health. We would become very aware of how diet and lifestyle choices affected our physical well-being. '_____.'

DOING IT YOURSELF

Do you feel rather overwhelmed by technology these days? Are you struggling to keep up with technological advances? Over the last twenty years, many of us have become alienated by new technology – feeling frightened of it rather than enabled by it.

Twenty years ago, computers were still simple enough that people could learn to program them. It gave them a feeling of power over their devices. Now our gadgets are non-programmable, or so complicated that it takes at least a college degree to understand how they work.

Eben Upton, though, wants us to return to a simpler time. His project, Raspberry Pi, has produced an inexpensive, credit-card-sized computer that he had hoped would encourage schools to teach children how to program. But in fact, not only children, but also adults have taken to the new computer with alacrity.

Upton hopes this will herald a new era of self-programming, where people can see their ideas become reality through their own efforts, without selling out to large, faceless corporations. If more people were able to operate technology sufficiently to work for themselves, then we would eventually become a smaller, more personal society again. Upton believes that regaining control over our destinies would lead to a huge increase in our happiness and well-being.

Crisis?

Jackie Stone reports on that most difficult time of life.

The syndrome has been common for decades; a man reaches his mid- to late 40s, and suddenly appears to have rediscovered the clothes he was wearing in his 20s (albeit in a larger size). The leather trousers are politely ignored by his friends, but there are sniggers when the bright red or yellow sports car (or worse, a motorbike) makes its appearance, and raised eyebrows when he starts turning up at parties with girlfriends young enough to be his daughter. And then the phrase is whispered among those watching, with a knowing nudge and a wink ... 'Midlife crisis!'

The term 'midlife crisis' was first coined in the 1960s, when remaining a conventionally staid adult lost its attraction for some, and the temptation to join in with the radical experimentations of the youth of the time became too strong to resist. It was thought to occur mostly with men between the ages of 40 and 60, and no matter how much of a cliché the syndrome became, there has always seemed to be an abundant supply of individuals who follow its predictable pattern, apparently unable to see that they have become a figure of fun.

According to recent studies, however, things have changed, and the midlife crisis itself has undergone a major transformation in recent years. For a start, a desperate attempt to hang on to a more youthful appearance clearly passes the equal opportunities test these days, with so many women going under the cosmetic surgeon's knife that the men's predilection for a bit of hair dye and moisturizer seems tame in comparison. And it all begins ever younger. One of the triggers for a major identity crisis appears to have been the accomplishment of long-held career goals, leading to an empty sense of '... so what now?' With younger people attaining senior management positions much sooner (the average age of CEOs has fallen from 59 to 48 in the last generation), these career plateaus can come much earlier in life. Even for those who aren't as ambitious, severe work pressure often leads to a need to re-evaluate career options in one's 30s, bringing on a crossroads moment well before the big four-oh is reached. This applies to women too these days, and whether career-oriented or not, another factor for mothers is the bewildering freedom which hits them when the children have left home.

What crisis?

45 While 45 is still the most common tipping point, the typical signs of a midlife crisis appear to have shifted to reflect more recent trends. Gone is the tendency to join a golf club or go nightclubbing. Recent surveys suggest that men and women the wrong side of 40 are most likely to 50 reveal their angst about bidding farewell to their younger selves by:

- › looking up old boyfriends or girlfriends on Facebook
- › considering a tattoo
- › running a half marathon
- 55 › deciding it's time to go to music festivals again
- › taking a sabbatical
- › removing all details of age from their online presence
- › using younger photos of themselves as online avatars.

Many of the people who responded to surveys on 60 this topic complained about the term 'midlife crisis' itself, however, and the disparaging way it is used. Two-thirds of Britons thought it was an insulting stereotype, and men complained that, while they are castigated for 'letting themselves go' as they get older, 65 any attempt to look after their appearance after the age of 40 was often met with ridicule and the accusation of a midlife crisis.

Perhaps we need to remember that we get the word 'crisis' from the Greek krisis, meaning 'turning point'.
70 It's not difficult to see, as the psychologist Carl Jung explained in some detail, that while our personalities may alter somewhat throughout life, there should come a time when the ego identity we've grown up with undergoes a radical overhaul in preparation for 75 the second half of life. And it's not as if exploring new activities and deciding to get fitter is something to be criticized. As a spokesman for Jeep, one of the companies who carried out one of the surveys, said, 'The traditional image of a midlife crisis is dead
80 and buried. Nowadays it's more about living for the moment and making the most of things and leading an active and healthy lifestyle.'

Happy Music

About two years ago, I came across an article about the 0 C music has on our emotions, which included references to Gloomy Sunday, a song 1 ____ by the Hungarian pianist Rezső Seress in 1933 during the Great Depression. It became 2 ____ all over the world as the saddest song ever written, and was banned in some countries because it was directly 3 ____ for thousands of cases of depression.

More recently, I heard what I regarded as the absolute 4 ____ of Gloomy Sunday – a happy tune called Halsway Schottische, by the virtuoso hurdy-gurdy player Nigel Eaton. I learned the tune myself and liked it so much that I decided to 5 ____ it with everyone I knew. I contacted Nigel to tell him my plan and then I sent the tune, as an MP3, to all my musical 6 _____. I asked them to listen to the piece and, if they liked it, to play and record it on their own instrument. The 7 ____ was amazing. Within two months there were eighty-six 8 ____ from musicians all over the world.

Reading and Use of English Part 2

For questions 9–16, read the text below and think of the word which best fits each gap. Use only one word in each gap. There is an example at the beginning (0). (8 marks)

Exercise addiction

Lisa Andrews was looking for a quick fitness fix. The 34-year-old had “a bit of weight to lose” a year after having her first baby and, 0 being both time-poor and on a budget, she decided to do it with the help of an online 12-week training programme she’d seen advertised on Facebook. “There 9 _____ hundreds of transformations on there,” Lisa tells me. “I couldn’t 10 _____ to start. The programme had several different levels so you could begin at whatever level you thought worked for 11 _____. Surely, it couldn’t be that hard? 12 _____, I picked Intermediate. It turned out to be really challenging, with daily sets of high-intensity exercises, and I 13 _____ frequently feel exhausted and totally out of breath by the end of it. However, I’m made of strong 14 _____ and, as I got fitter, I began to really love the training. I looked forward to it, talked about it all the time and even got friends to sign 15 _____. I became quite obsessed. Sometimes I’d even do two sessions a day. I’d skip other activities in order to 16 _____ out, because if I had to miss a session, I’d feel depressed and worried that it would derail my progress.”

Reading and Use of English Part 3

For questions 17–24, read the text below. Use the word given in capitals at the end of some of the lines to form a word that fits in the gap in the same line. There is an example at the beginning (0). (8 marks)

My mission to Mars

Even as a child I was 0 obsessed with space travel. The idea of becoming an astronaut held an 17 _____ appeal for me, even though I chose a career in engineering. I've always browsed websites such as the European Space Agency's, which is where I eventually saw the call for 18 _____ for the Mars 500 project, a 19 _____ of a 520-day flight to the red planet, to discover if a small crew could handle the 20 _____ demands of a deep space mission. Some aspects of sealing myself off from the world did worry me. For nearly 18 months, I'd be living in a windowless area with five strangers, 21 _____ to step outside, breathe fresh air or feel the sun on my face. This would be the longest experiment in 22 _____ ever conducted and no one knew how it would affect us all – we really would be stepping into the 23 _____. Yet I felt a tremendous sense of 24 _____ saying goodbye to friends and family, and closing the door behind us.

- 5 In buttoned-up blouses and billowing bloomers ...
 But these are the members of Britain's first official female football teams, whose clashes on the field in the 1880s sparked riots off it and ...
 The pictures, uncovered as part of an exhibition charting the history of women's football, reveal the characters who tackled a man's world for the first time.
 However, while thousands flocked to see their matches, by 1895, when these photographs were taken, ... 'The young women presented a pretty appearance on the field ... as well as the dainty way in which the women set them off.'

Casting aside corsets in favour of voluminous knickerbockers and prim bonnets ...

... it is not surprising that the match was attended by a crowd numbering several thousands, very few of whom would like to have their own sisters or daughters exhibiting themselves on the football field.'

At the centre of the furore was the British Ladies' Football Club, which played dozens of games that year.
Founded by the enigmatic Nellie Hudson, known as Nettie J. Honeyball, the club fielded teams called North and South, which played against each other.
 In the North team was Helen Matthews, a goalkeeper who played under the name of Mrs Graham.

Stuart Gibbs, 47, who helped compile the exhibition, said ...

'The games often caused anger from men who disliked women doing what, at the time, was a man's job.'
